

Weather Spotter Training Class

March 27, 2010, 9:00 a.m.
Los Lunas Fire Dept., 465 Main St. NE
Los Lunas, NM

The National Weather Service in Albuquerque is seeking volunteers who would like to become official Weather Spotters.

Weather spotters are the “eyes and ears” of the NWS and provide valuable weather reports, which cannot be replaced.

The training is free!
No prior experience needed!

Those interested often include citizens, amateur radio operators, CERT and Citizen Corps personnel, law enforcement, fire, transportation and public works staff.

Training covers:

- Flash floods
- Tornadoes
- Severe Thunderstorms
- Lightning
- Winter Weather

Spotter reports, coupled with radar, satellite, and other data, has enabled the NWS to issue more timely and accurate warnings and statements for types of hazardous weather.

For more information, please contact:
Tim Shy or Ken Widelski, 505-243-0702 x 0 or
Kenneth.Widelski@noaa.gov
Timothy.shy@noaa.gov

SPONSORED BY YOUR LOCAL EMERGENCY MANAGER